THE INFLUENCE OF HASAN AL-BANNA THINKING ON DA'WAH TOWARDS THE MUHAMMADIYAH MOVEMENT IN INDONESIA

ABSTRACT

Rejuvenation came into Islam bringing along therewith new ideas to influence the Islamic thinking and movement. Amongst the prominent figures that have notably contributed to the rejuvenation efforts in Egypt, are the likes of Ibnu Taimiyyah (1263-1328 M), Syaikh Abdul Wahhab (1703-1787) Sayyid Jamaluddin al-Afghani (1838-1897) and Muhammad Abduh (1849-1905) as well as Muhammad Rasyid Ridha (1856-1935).

In Egypt, the cause of their struggles was continued by Hasan al-Banna a prominent figure who was mindful about the problems befalling the Muslim ummah. Hasan al-Banna's thinking exists wholistically in Islamic da'wah activities. This means that his thinking includes every aspects of human life such as man's social being, education, economy and politics. Hasan al-Banna's thinking on da'wah has influenced almost the entire Arab Peninsula and beyond which included Indonesia.

In Indonesia, whose majority of its citizen holds onto the Islamic faith, has felt the change clearly in their religious and well as societal life. These changes were the result of efforts made by K.H. Achmad Dahlan through the Muhammadiyah organization that was established on 8 Zulhijjah 1330 H corresponding to 18 November 1912 M.

The thinking and da'wah movement implemented by these two prominent figures are significant to be studied as the findings is intended to provide the impetus to the development of Islamic knowledge as well as the ability to increase the intellectual heritage for Islamic thinkers. In addition it is hoped that this study can be used as a basic platform for the further development of da'wah notwithstanding at the national, regional or international level.

This study is intended to determine whether there is a direct influence between the da'wah thinking of Hasan al-Banna to that of the Muhammadiyah movement. The historical approach and the content analysis methods were used to obtain the findings. Hence the influence of Hasan al-Banna on the Muhammadiyah movement could be gauged and measured.

The findings in this research showed that although numerous similarities exist nonetheless there is no clear indication that there is a direct influence between the two. However both were found to apply the methods that were explored by the earlier prominent figures which had been merged with knowledge and experience that were compatible with the needs and situation of each epoch or particular period.
